STRENGTHENING TSR (TEACHER-STUDENT-RELATIONSHIPS)

USING RESTORATIVE APPROACHES TO STRENGTHENING TSR & MAINTAINING BEST PRACTICE

A one-day workshop for those who have just started on the RP Journey

On Friday, 26 June 2015, 9am to 4pm

Closing Date: 15 June 2015 or when all places are taken up

Greg Jansen and Rich Matla are educational consultants / trainers working with schools and organisations both throughout New Zealand & Internationally. They are passionate and committed to the needs of children and young people, the professional growth of educators and the development of healthy cultures within our learning communities. They bring a wealth of experience both teaching and leading within and beyond mainstream education. Recent research projects include 'What makes 'restorative conversations' work?' and 'Restorative Practices – is it worth the time and effort?'. They are also contributing authors of the recently published book Responsive Pedagogy – Engaging Restoratively with Challenging Behaviour.

Workshop Details

Objective

To build on previous knowledge, experience and skills in using restorative techniques to build, sustain and restore strong teacher-student relationships.

What will you learn?

This interactive highly practical workshop will build on previous knowledge of RP knowledge and focus on the following:

- Recapitulate & reinforce the key principles of the restorative approach.
- Explore everyday strategies we can use to work 'with' - 'keep the small things small' and the concept of 'Ask / Tell', in our initial reactions & develop best practice responses.
- Hone the skills of restorative conversations, building on current skills, sharing best practice, putting the bite in the tail & exploring script adaptations younger years / learning focused conversations.
- Explore the 'essence' and the 'keystones' to ensure robustness of practice.
- Experience and conduct effective Mediated Restorative Conversations.
- Investigate how understanding and using 'Transactional Analysis' can help strengthen teacher student relationships.
